

Abstract of the Disclosure:

A cabinet-shaped washing machine includes a conveyor belt to move laundry goods in circulation, with the laundry goods passing through various successive steps of the laundry cycle.

- 5 Following the actual washing process, a downstream pre-dehumidification as well as a drying and pressing phase can be realized in the same housing.

GLM/nt